Introduction

Developing a Life Care Plan involves answering questions that cover an array of life issues. The questions help the family and the Trust Beneficiary think about what he or she will want and need in the future. The answers provide the framework for planning how to maximize the likelihood that these wants and needs will be met. PLAN will use the Life Care Plan as a guide and reference while working with the Trust Beneficiary to ensure quality service and appropriate use of funds.

It is never too early to develop a Life Care Plan. Taking the time and care to develop a good Life Care Plan helps ensure that the trust beneficiary will benefit from the trust assets and continue or obtain public benefits which he or she may be eligible to receive. Developing a Life Care Plan early allows the family the opportunity to make informed decisions together.

The process of developing a Life Care Plan requires a significant amount of time. The process can include as many people as you wish, including the Trust Beneficiary. Once a Life Care Plan is developed, it should be reviewed on a regular basis and at any time when there has been a change in circumstances.
